

Dozen Vessels Helping Search for Thresher

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dark weather and gale winds swept farther out to sea today, clearing the skies over a dozen ships probing for the deep grave of the submarine Thresher.

Special echo sounding gear in the hands of oceanographers will map the bottom of the Atlantic in the effort to find the hull—or what is left of it—so that it can be scanned by underwater television and the bathyscaphe Trieste.

There is no hope for the 129 men who rode the nuclear submarine a mile and a half down into the ocean trough. All that can be salvaged now are the haws and whys of the Navy's worst submarine disaster—an explanation that could save the lives of other submarines.

And while the search goes on, the navy has announced it intends to go ahead with construction of 22 more attack submarines like the Thresher.

But, said Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, the Bureau of Ships is making a new study of the entire structural design.

This study, he told newsmen Friday night, is beside and in addition to the general investigation being conducted by the Naval court of inquiry.

The court of inquiry's hearings will include a probe into the structural integrity of the Thresher after her overhaul in the Portsmouth, N.H., Navy Yard.

It was from this overhaul that the Thresher departed Tuesday for test dives. It was never heard from again after plunging down for its final, maximum test dive Wednesday morning.

Whistling 45-mile-an-hour winds and 15- to 20-foot waves crashed against the search ships Friday, hampering operations and delaying plans.

The loss of the Thresher could force the Navy to change some of its secret message code system.

Whether codes are changed to prevent them from falling into the hands of other nations depends on such things as the place where a ship sinks, water depth and the possibility of access to the wreck.

A Navy spokesman declined today to say whether codes would be changed because of the Thresher's sinking in 8,400 feet of water more than 200 miles east of Boston.

Bids on Bank Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southeast Construction Company, Inc. of Pine Bluff is apparent low bidder, at $385,200, on two bank stabilization projects on the Arkansas River near Morrilton. One is at Point Remove Creek, a mile upstream from Morrilton; the other at Cypress Bend, four miles downstream from the community.

AEA Would Back Any Consolidation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Any move to require consolidation of smaller school districts probably would get the backing of the Arkansas Education Association, Forrest Rozzell, AEA director-secretary, said today.

Rozzell said the AEA could be expected to back a consolidation movement was under way among lay leaders in education.

Rozzell said a permanent state commission should be set up to make a continuing study of school consolidation needs.

Rozzell said more than 200 of the state's 417 school districts are too small to provide adequate education programs.

The initiated act should be similar, Rozzell said, to a 1949 act which required any district with less than 350 students to consolidate with another district. The number of school districts were reduced from nearly 2,000 to 424.

Voluntary consolidation since 1949 has been slow, he said, although more than 100 districts have fallen below 350 students.

Rozzell suggested a commission of five to nine men with a director and staff. He said there should also be commissions at the county level to make recommendations to the state agencies.

Old, Old Story to Be Retold on Sunday

Another in a series of articles on the significance of Easter by local Ministers:

"HE IS RISEN!" Someone says, "that's an old story." And it is an old, old story, one that has given joy to untold millions throughout the last 1900 years. In spite of skeptics, atheists, agnostics and the communists, who have said it is all a big hoax, from castle and cottage, by the child of plenty and by the child of want, we hear the joyful song, "Christ is Risen Today!"

Begin your worship early this Easter. Attend the Sunrise Service which is to be held in the High School Coliseum, 6:30 a. m. this Sunday.

Cites Hospital Cooperation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Raymond P. Sloan, associate professor of administrative medicine at Columbia University, New York, says the trend among hospitals is toward more cooperation and less duplication of services. Sloan told hospital administrators at a meeting Wednesday at Little Rock board members must forget their own feelings in wanting their hospital to be the best, and think of the needs of the community. He said meetings such as the one at Little Rock were useful in stimulating community or region-wide planning among hospitals to provide complete care with a minimum of duplication of equipment and services.

To Examine Shells

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (P)—P. Chaffee, Ark., officials are to examine a live mortar shell, believed to have been fired near Memphis during the Civil War. The shell was found by an 8-year-old boy earlier this week. The youth played with the 11-pound, brass-fused shell for a while before showing it to his father, who called the Army. Officers decided to take it to the Fort Smith installation to disarm or explode it.

Thinks Thieves Knew Collection

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Police believe that whoever took a dozen folders of a coin collection from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Taylor in Morrilton some time this week knew exactly what they were looking for.

Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said nothing else in the house was disturbed. He termed the theft work of specialists.

A $200 reward has been offered for information leading to arrest and conviction of the thieves, he said.

Commandos Help Remote Panama Area

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A remote village in Panama has been brought in close touch with the 20th century, thanks to an Air Force "voice from the sky" that taught villagers to carve an airstrip out of the jungle.

The Air Force called it the "most spectacular project" yet undertaken by its Air Commandos in the Caribbean area.

The main mission of the Air Commandos is to train friendly forces in antiguerrilla techniques. But they also have been fostering "nation building" civic action projects.

An airstrip for the village of Chiman was such a project. Air Commandos flying overhead in loudspeaker-equipped planes gave instructions to the natives on how to build the strip. The Panamanians didn't meet their instructors until the airmen landed on the finished runway.

The airstrip, hacked out of the jungle with machetes and other hand tools, brought the village within 45 minutes by air of Panama City, 75 miles away.

Until the strip was opened on March 30 the town and surrounding areas, with a population of only 3,000, were isolated from roads or railroads. And the 21-foot tides in the Bay of Panama hampered boat traffic.

The Air Force said all the project cost the United States was the gasoline it took to fly loudspeaker planes over the community.

It all began last December when Col. J. K. Klette of Rahway, N.J., flying over southeast Panama, noticed the isolation of many of the settlements and decided aviation was the answer.

Chiman was chosen for the pioneer project, and things got under way in February.

First the people had to be sounded out. Morgan Smith of St. Petersburg, Fla., director of the Caribbean Air Commando Tropical Survival School, rode a single engine plane over the town and spoke to the townsfolk in Spanish through a loudspeaker.

"We are able to help you build an airfield," Smith's voice boomed. "We are going to drop a plan in order that you may see what is needed to build a runway."

The plane dropped smoke markers to show the location the Air Force men thought best for the airstrip.

Then Smith's plane dropped two strips of luminous colored cloth. He asked the villagers to arrange the strips in a letter "X" if they were willing to build the runway with tools the Air Commandos would drop.

"We will return in two days for your answer," Smith called down as his plane turned away with Lt. Col. Robert L. Gleason of Phoenixville, Pa., at the controls.

Two days later, Smith returned. Below was the luminous "X"—the villagers' "yes."

The villagers then received their instructions by loudspeaker. The next day, Feb. 12, three Air Force planes dropped files, axes, picks and shovels near the town. The work began.

On March 30 the strip was done, crude perhaps—but serviceable.

Senators Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas Senators, J. William Fulbright and John McClellan, D-Ark., split their vote Thursday in the adoption, 58-16, of an amendment to eliminate $196 million for starting production of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile program. Fulbright voted for the Senate amendment, McClellan against it.

Food Prepared for Passover May Be Poison

By LARRY OSIUS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Grocers and housewives have been alerted to a new botulism threat, this time in canned tuna prepared for the Jewish Passover season already under way.

The Food and Drug Administration in Washington announced Friday that some defective cans of tuna gave indications of being contaminated by the deadly clostridium botulinum type E.

The cans in question were shipped to six metropolitan areas within the past two months, FDA officials said. They bear the stamped serial numbers WY2 and WY3 and the labels read, in part, "Dagim—white tuna—kosher for Passover—net wt. 7 oz."

The areas are New York, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman for the FDA said "We don't think a large amount has been sold." He said the shipper had notified all recipients last week of the possibility that the canned tuna was contaminated.

The spokesman said about 10 defective cans had been tested and most showed indications of botulism. All, he said, were found in the metropolitan New York area.

The FDA said the tuna—kosher to meet Jewish dietary restrictions and doubly supervised for the Jewish Passover season to ensure that no leavened bread is contained in it—was packed by the Washington Packing Corp. of San Francisco.

That firm, shut down since March 22, also packed tuna which apparently led to the deaths from botulism of two Detroit women last month. They had obtained their tuna from an A&P store in Detroit. The FDA said tests showed type E botulism in the unused portion of the tuna fish.

A&P removed all of the suspected shipment from its shelves and subsequent checks showed no other contaminated cans. However, a can packed by Washington Packing and shipped to a California firm also was found to have type E botulism.

The FDA said the earlier A&P shipment and the Passover tuna now in question were the only interstate shipments it knows of from the Washington Packing Corp.

Alligators Spread From Defunct Farm

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Some 200 alligators yawned, stretched and were moving about Thursday after their annual hibernation. They looked, at times, as though they were grinning.

The discovery, triggered when an 18-inch alligator was spotted in a city park pool, caused immediate concern.

Its brothers, housed at a now defunct alligator farm, are practically unattended.

Mesa police said one boy has admitted climbing over the fence and carrying off some smaller reptiles. Police said the boy told them he and other youngsters scattered the young gators in canals, lakes and other pools in the area.

This brought a warning from the sheriff's office in nearby Phoenix urging all persons to be careful where they swim during the next few days.

Max Finch, executive secretary of the Arizona Humane Society, warned that the alligators are hungry and should be regarded as dangerous. He said even smaller ones could snap off the finger of anyone who tried to catch them.

The farm is leased by Dale Logston, a Texas animal importer and dealer. Watchman Monte Ladue said he didn't know the alligators would awaken so soon.

Tomorrow Is the Time Most Symbolic of Sacrifice and Suffering for Soul of Man

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Tomorrow is Easter, and to all Christians everywhere that is the time most symbolic of the sacrifice and suffering for the salvation of our souls by the Son of God.

While it was certainly Divine Providence that such things should have taken place, it was the courage of a human being which made it a reality. Courage has never been more greatly displayed. No greater drama has ever been, real or imagined.

"To remember Him at His table and to forget Him at ours, is to have invested in bad securities. There is no substitute for plain everyday goodness," said Babcock.

Perhaps the banker's terms are more easily understood by modern man, for Sockman also made use of them when he said "We must beware of bankrupting our today by paying interest on the regrets of yesterday and borrowing in advance the trouble of tomorrow."

Christ wasn't 'borrowing trouble' but was foreseeing the weakness of mankind. And He knew that it would take all His resources, both human and divine, to compensate for past mistakes and to forestall future ones. At best, He could only try. The rest was to be left up to His fellow human beings.

Courage is the key word for the human side of Easter, while salvation is the most symbolic of the divine. The letters in the word COURAGE, emphasize what we mean.

The "C" is for Christ, the magnificent man made in God's image.

"O" is the Outreach to Others, which He did in His life on earth and continues to do in ours.

"U" means Understanding. He always has for us, but we too seldom have for Him.

"R" is for Righteousness that was symbolized in the words, "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

"A" is for Almighty, and no more descriptive word could be used for Him.

"G" is, of course, for God, the Father.

"E" stands for the Easter experience itself.

Two Killed in Benton Wreck

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—A grinding crash of two cars and a truck near Benton Thursday night took the life of a Springfield, Tenn. woman and her 5-year-old son and left three persons injured.

Mrs. Myrtle Tisdell, 25, and Mark Stephen Tisdell were killed in the wreck. Her husband, Rev. James F. Tisdell, 25, and their daughters, Myra Jane, 3, and Elizabeth Jean, 2, were taken to a Benton hospital. Their injuries were reported not critical.

State Trooper Bobby Gunn said the Tisdell car collided head-on with a pickup truck driven by Alfred L. Smith, 58, of Benton. Prosecuting Attorney Lawson Glover said Thursday night he would charge Smith today with involuntary manslaughter.

The third vehicle involved in the crash was driven by Bill Apple, 33, of Little Rock.

Gunn said after the Smith truck struck the Tisdell car, Apple's car hit the sedan. Smith was held in the Saline County Jail Thursday night.

Halt Clerk From Using U.S. Auto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The call of Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., for a halt to what he termed "a brazen infraction of the rules of conduct" has cost House Clerk Ralph R. Roberts use of a government-owned limousine for visits to a Maryland race track.

The clerk will henceforth "use the car strictly for official purposes," House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told a news conference in revealing the action.

Roberts confirmed last week that he frequently drove to the Bowie and Laurel race tracks in nearby Maryland in the limousine and said he saw nothing wrong in doing it.

"It's like a telephone or anything else," Roberts said. "It's there and you use it."

Gathings said his constituents didn't see it that way and one had phoned him to ask if that was "the way our tax money is spent."

Gathings wrote McCormack Thursday asking that House Democrats be called into caucus to see what could be done.

McCormack said he handled the matter by himself.

Rusk Calls Kennedy on French Talks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, here for an Easter vacation, received a telephone report today from Secretary of State Dean Rusk, just back from a trip to Europe and conversations with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, declined to elaborate on the nature of Rusk's report from Washington.

Rusk visited Paris and London and his talk with De Gaulle was the first high-level contact between American and French officials since De Gaulle vetoed Britain's bid to enter the European Common Market last January.

Although this was primarily a vacation trip for Kennedy and his family, Salinger said there was a possibility the President would receive a few official visitors early next week. But Salinger would not say who they would be.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy and their two children, Caroline and John Jr., are expected to remain here until next Wednesday.

Salinger announced the following personnel changes made today by Kennedy:

—Acceptance of the resignation of G. Erle Coker Sr. as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., effective Aug. 4.

—Selection of L.J. Andolsek, Washington, D.C., as a member of the Civil Service Commission for a term expiring March 1, 1969.

—Reappointment of Manuel F. Cohen to a five-year term on the Securities and Exchange Commission.

—Selection of E. Allan Lightner Jr. as ambassador to Libya.

Pope Appeals for End to Arms Race

By EUGENE LEVI

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed today for an end to the arms race and for the United Nations to be given the structure and means to safeguard world peace.

In an encyclical titled "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth), the pontiff called for reduction of arms stockpiles, a ban on nuclear weapons and a general agreement eventually on "progressive disarmament and an effective method of control."

The Pope warned that the "conflagration" of war "may be set off by some uncontrollable and unexpected chance."

He added: "Even though the monstrous power of modern weapons acts as a deterrent, it is to be feared that the mere continuance of nuclear tests, undertaken with war in mind, will have fatal consequences for life on the earth."

The Pope called for the deterrent of arms equality to be replaced by universal acceptance of the fundamental principle "that the true and solid peace of nations consists not in equality of arms but in mutual trust alone."

Writing as the "vicar on earth of Jesus Christ" and as "interpreter of the very profound longing of the entire human family," the pontiff beseeched "especially those who have the responsibility of public affairs to spare no labor in order to ensure that world events follow a reasonable and human course."

Pope John indicated he hoped the United Nations eventually might become a strong world authority. But he did not specifically mention what peace-keeping means it should have at its disposal, such as a police force.

He said: "A public authority having worldwide power and endowed with the proper means for the efficacious pursuit of its objective, which is the universal common good in concrete form, must be set up by common accord and not imposed by force."

But the pontiff said nations were "right in not easily yielding in obedience to an authority imposed by force, or to an authority in whose creation they had no part, or to which they themselves did not decide to submit by conscious and free choice."

Pope John said a supra-national world authority must be considered because national leaders in the modern world are "on a footing of equality" and are "no longer capable of facing the task of finding an adequate solution to the problems."

"It is our earnest wish," the Pope continued, "that the United Nations—in its structure and in its means—may become ever more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks, and that the day may come when every human being will find therein an effective safeguard for the rights which derive directly from his dignity as a person, and which are therefore universal, inviolable and inalienable rights."

"This is all the more to be hoped for since all human beings, they take an ever more active part in the public life of their own political communities, are showing an increasing interest in the affairs of all peoples, and are becoming more consciously aware that they are living members of a world community."

Russia to Be Told NATO for Defense Only

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to tell Russia shortly that the proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization multilateral nuclear force, on which the allies now are negotiating, is designed purely for the defense of Western Europe and offers no offensive threat to the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk notified Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Friday that a reply to this week's Moscow protest against the nuclear force will be dispatched in a few days. Russia charged the United States with moves to "unleash a race in nuclear-rocket armaments transcending all national and geographic boundaries."

Rusk also told Dobrynin in their 80-minute meeting at the State Department that the United States is seriously concerned over the recent fighting in Laos and the failure of the Communist side there to carry out fully the East-West agreement to neutralize Laos.

The United States wants Russia to use its authority specifically to get greater freedom of movement for an authority specifically to get greater freedom of movement for an international control commission in Communist-held territory in the little southeast Asian kingdom. It also wants complete withdrawal from Laos of forces from Communist North Viet Nam. They were supposed to be pulled out under the neutrality agreement, but have been reported still in the country.

Rusk and Dobrynin met for the stated purpose of continuing their exploratory talks on some kind of tension-easing Berlin agreement. They have met once previously this year on the Berlin problem and it was announced following Friday's session that they will meet again "in the near future."

Goldwater Lets Backers Go to Work

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has let the bars down for supporters to find out what enthusiasm they can generate with a move to draft him for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater's reaction to the announcement Monday of the formation of a national draft committee was a resigned shrug and the statement, "If they want to waste their time and money, that's their business."

Acknowledging that he knows most of the people involved, Goldwater disclaimed any connection with the movement started by Peter O'Donnell Jr., Texas Republican state chairman.

Goldwater said in an interview, he is "only running in Arizona" for re-election to the Senate next year. He said the presidential nomination movement "will have to get along without any help from me."

"These things are springing up all over the country," he said. "I've just given up trying to stop them."

Goldwater said he knew nothing about the financing of the O'Donnell organization except that he considered it had "a mighty good fund raiser" in its treasurer, J. William Millendorf of Greenwich, Conn., a New York stock broker and member of the Connecticut Republican Finance Committee.

'Hazel' Has Launched a New Season

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At a time when many television series are warily awaiting a life-or-death sentence, "Hazel" is happily launching its new season.

The NBC comedy show, one of the few series with a single sponsor, has begun shooting its programs for the 1963-64 season. After 13 are in the can, the company will disband for a summer vacation, reporting back for the rest of the season in the fall.

"Hazel" seems destined for a long life, largely because of the engaging personality of its star, Shirley Booth. Beginning her third year as the nosy, warm-hearted maid, she appears willing to continue in the role indefinitely.

A top award-winner of both the stage and screen, she raised eyebrows among her fellow actors when she accepted the series. They asked why she needed the television grind.

The answer seems to be that she doesn't consider it a grind, and that may explain at least part of "Hazel's" success.

"I like my work," she commented. "It's confining, but I compensate for that. I have adjusted to the kind of life I lead."

When Miss Booth is working here, she lives at the Chateau Marmont, a homey place that is favored by New York visitors. Unlike many New York actors, she likes living here—"take away the smog and you've got paradise."

But her permanent home is in the East. She owns an apartment in New York and a house on Cape Cod.

With "Hazel" prospering, she doesn't even think about a return to the stage. "I still have scripts sent to me, but I don't read them," she said. "My agent knows not even to submit them to me."

U.S. Tiptoes Around the Cuban Ruler

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is almost two years since the United States got mixed up in one of the worst farces in its history. If it had been planned for his benefit, it couldn't have helped Fidel Castro more.

He looked like a soft touch but wasn't. Now, since the Soviets moved in to protect him, he looks untouchable. The United States, which sought to destroy him, now tiptoes around him.

About 1,500 Cuban refugees, with American backing, invaded their homeland April 17, 1961, to get rid of Castro. He smashed them, jailed about 1,200, and finally released them last year for a handsome ransom.

From all of this it might seem he could consider himself safe now. He probably doesn't.

There is a bit of the Caribbean withefactor about him. All who touch him get hit with a curse, friend or foe. Both the United States and Russia suffered humiliation from getting tangled with him.

The events flowing from that disastrous act of invasion took strange turns.

This country — but principally President Kennedy, who took responsibility for the invasion—has been rendered self-conscious not only by the invasion failure but the dismal nature of it.

It shocked some people around the world to see the United States take part, even though in the background, in an attack on a neighbor. Some were shocked because it failed, others because it was handled so wretchedly.

Russia suffered an embarrassment from which it probably has not yet recovered when, after sliding missiles into Cuba, it crawled out of a showdown with Kennedy by pulling its missiles out.

But Russia wasn't all loser. It shoved about 22,000 Soviet troops into Cuba with the missiles and perhaps 14,000 are still there. Since any attack on Cuba now would involve them, and Russia, their presence discourages invasion.

In this sense they're a blessing for Castro. He may feel the blessing is mixed. He can't help feeling that if he ever stops toeing the Russian line, the Russians in Cuba will dispose of him.

There is the possibility that Russia had two reasons, not connected with any real threat to the United States, for putting the missiles in Cuba:

1. It was a good excuse to put troops in, too, for while they're a discouragement to any kind of American invasion they are also a control on Castro.

2. Strictly for bargaining: to agree to pull its missiles out of Cuba if this country agreed to do the same with its missiles in Turkey and Italy.

The Kennedy administration denies any such deal, or any deal, was made.

Nevertheless, not long after the Russian missiles were hauled away from Cuba, this government announced it was pulling its missiles out of Italy and Turkey.

The reason given was that they are no longer needed now that Polariss submarines are moving around under the Mediterranean with their missiles are better bases than the stationary ones in Italy and Turkey.

Out of all this one thing is sure: the United States is a lot further from getting Castro out of Cuba than it was before the invasion began. There is no evidence this country now has any plans for getting rid of Castro.

And the American government, which backed the refugees two years ago has come so cautious about getting into trouble with the Russians in Cuba that it has cracked down on refugees in this country to make sure they don't try any anti-Castro capers from American territory.

Rossi who formerly appeared with the Roy Rogers Show will be featured with the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus when it plays Hope on the 14 of April, at 3 p.m. Only.

The World's Champion Trick Rider Rex Rossi, and his petite wife Wanda are known for their thrilling performances at every major rodeo in the U.S. as well as internationally. Recently, returned from a successful engagement in Japan with the Casey Tibbs Overseas Rodeo, they can now be seen under the Big Top of the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus appearing in Hope on the 14th at 3 p.m. only.

The Rossi's present a display of daring and skill unequalled in their profession and are considered most versatile as they amaze children and adults alike with their many colorful exciting acts.

Stepping to the ground from their flashy Palomino horses they will demonstrate the Rope Spinning Act that has been so well received at such spectacular productions as the Madison Square Garden Rodeo in New York, which is the top rung of the ladder in the Rodeo world, and many other outstanding shows including the Roy Rogers Chevy Show on TV.

Rex has a reputation as an accomplished Bull Whip artist and Wanda proves it as she allows her partner in work as well as life, to cut cigarettes from her mouth and stand steady while papers are being cut from her fingers, inch by inch.

Last but not least are the crowd pleasing Horse Catches, packed with action and requiring great skill and timing. Rex performs intricate Rope tricks with a heavy Mexican Maque Rope and finishes each trick by catching a fast running horse by four legs. Rex is especially known for this famous Sumersault Catch in which he jumps through the rope three times, does a perfect sumersault and catches the horse as it thunders past, all in one smooth movement.

A DEAD ENDING

CHAPTER XII

Canaday's face hardened. "Dennis Hooper is — was — a complete jerk for my money," he said. "An irresponsible playboy using the General's prestige and power as a shield. The General has bailed him out of innumerable jams — mostly taking some bar or restaurant apart when he was tight. The General would pay the damages. If he'd been anyone but General Hooper's nephew, Dennis would have spent a lot of time cooling off in the jug. He ran around with a fast but legitimate crowd of young punks. His salary at the Commission is nominal.

His spending money came from the General and it must have been plenty."

"No connection between Dennis Hooper and Higby?" I asked.

"Not in my file," Canaday said. "The General admits he has never met Higby. If Dennis had met him, knew him, it must have been casual."

"No known connection between Dennis Hooper and Mrs. Terrill?"

"None in our records," Canaday said.

The main thing I was wondering about when I left Canaday was what I was going to be up against when Lieutenant Cash connected that silly bow tie with our client.

I got to the Athletic Club just as the noon sirens were blowing. I sat in the lobby twiddling my thumbs and waiting for 15 minutes to pass.

There was no sign of Higby at 12:30. I was developing a slow burn. Didn't the idiot know how touchy his situation was? At a

LOVE DIED, BUT MARRIAGE CONTINUED

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Your column dwells on husbands and wives who have spats or open breaks. How about the couples who jog along, weary with each other, bored by life, yet for social, economic or religious reasons tacitly accept their fate?

Here I am in my 40's, all love between my husband and me long since dead, yet we continue together. It's the same routine, day after day. I've got my job keeping the house, looking after the children, now in their teens. My husband eats, sleeps, works and pays the bills. There are no arguments, no extra-marital romancing on his part or mine, no sprees, just the deadly dullness of everyday living. I'll bet there are thousands like us. When all love is lost, then what? —B

Dear B.: Yours is a fair question. You evidently mourn the first passionate years of marriage. Like everything else in life, love changes and, if sincere, will develop. Nature provides human beings with the mating urge. Once their family is started, the love between man and woman is of a different sort. It broadens out to include the mental and spiritual as well as to retain the physical.

Couples should create mutual interests; concentrate on seeing friends, going places and doing things which both will enjoy and can discuss. The older they grow, the more inseparable they will become. Mutual interests bind them together and in that way, romance still flowers. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Keystones of the Home."

Dear Helen: My mother and I have been discussing the letters teenagers write you; griping about their parents, claiming they won't be popular unless they wear make-up and all that. Mom asked me, "But what does a parent do in this case?" "Nothing," I replied. "The teenagers are too confused to accept their advice even if they know it's right." They've got to suffer before they'll change.

Not until I graduated from junior high did I see how wrong my know-it-all attitude was. Now I'm beginning to realize there are more important things in life than lipstick, peroxidizing hair and worrying about popularity. Thank you for your sane advice. —One Who has learned.

Dear Helen: I'm hoiling mad at my daughter-in-law. She and her husband, my only son, didn't remember my birthday or write my daughter when she became a nun. I wrote the daughter-in-law asking why she and my son overlooked me and my daughter on these special occasions. Now comes her belated reply saying they couldn't write because he has his army duties, plus extra studies, and she has the baby and home. What should I do next?

—Hurt

Dear Hurt: Do nothing. Slighters are seldom intentional, for basically, most people want to be kind. Take this into consideration and keep on loving your son and daughter-in-law.

But after all, you were responsible for his upbringing, so if he bypasses you now, don't be too critical. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Are You Sensitive?"

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

More Schools to Integrate

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Voluntarily adopted plans for new or additional desegregation plans in five southern and border state school districts have been closed by Southern School News.

Announcing plans for new moves were four Kentucky school districts and the Lampasas Independent School District in Texas. They call for desegregating classes beginning next September the publication said.

The magazine said four other school districts were ordered by federal courts to take similar action and that Negro plaintiffs filed desegregation suits against school boards in five districts.

Southern School News, published by the Southern Education Reporting Service, said desegregation suits were filed in March at High Point and in Shelby County, N.C.; Leake County, Miss. and in Mobile and Huntsville, Ala.

CAROLINA CHARTER - Postage stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of the Carolina Charter will be issued April 6 in Edenton, N.C. As reward for helping him regain England's throne, Charles II gave to his supporters the Carolina Charter - a strip of land extending roughly from Virginia to Florida and coast to coast. Original charter is displayed in Raleigh, N.C.

DWI Campaign
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A proposal before a county courts committee would send persons convicted of drunken driving to "night" jail.

Senior Judge Frederick Barad, its sponsor, said Wednesday the measure would allow offenders to work during the day, thus reducing the use of public money to support their families. Under the plan, offenders would serve time also on their days off from work.

Goldwater
Goldwater's action in bringing his followers to begin plugging at this early date for a nomination he predicts publicly he won't get contrasted sharply with steps New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller took to stamp out a similar California move in his behalf.

Rockefeller, who will bring his unannounced campaign for the nomination to Washington for a series of speeches Wednesday, forced former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to close a Rockefeller for President headquarters in California. The New Yorker obviously was operating on the theory that it's too soon to get out in the pen.

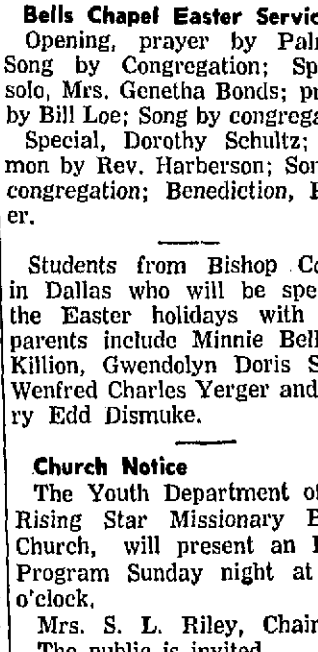

Significantly perhaps, Goldwater avoided saying at a meeting of the District of Columbia Committee Monday how he stands on the issue of running in next year's presidential primaries where Rockefeller's name may be entered.

Editor Resigns
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ray G. Cooper of Hot Springs has announced his resignation as editor of the Arkansas Statesman, a weekly newspaper published by Gov. Orval E. Faubus. Cooper, 27, said he resigned to take another post, which he did not identify. A successor has not been named. Cooper formerly was editor of the Russellville Courier Democrat and secretary-manager of the Arkansas Press Association.

Easter

It is now three days after that terrible Dark Friday when God said unto them, "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day; and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached among all nations." The weighty stones are being rolled away from the grave doors and the Spirit is becoming triumphant over death. The Old Rugged Cross and Christ's tomb are both being snatched, forever, from their association with death. Now,—just then, Heavenly love turned the gloomiest Dark Friday in the annals of human history into a very Good Friday. All that Christmas ever meant to the world is now wholly sanctified in Easter. Christ's promise that He would build the Temple again in three days, has been fulfilled. Easter is the springtime of the soul and Crucifixion has more radiant beauty and deep meaning when we see it through the fragrant glory of the snow white lily. Easter symbolizes the Crucifixion, Burial and Resurrection of our True Leader. The event is packed with all the drama of human emotion we can withstand. Hallelujah, it is Easter. A-men.
